Members of the 2026 Riverland Rose and Garden Festival Committee Michelle Drogemuller, President Vicki Dunhill, Graham Matthews, Glenda Kelly, Tammy Spinks, Murray Harvey, Rebecca Kennedy, Glenys Matthews and Frankie Dunhill. Absent: John Chappel, Alison Nuske and Jo Pannach.

Welcome to the 2026 Riverland Rose and Garden Festival. For those travelling to the region, we are delighted to welcome you to the Riverland.

Over ten days, the festival celebrates the joy of gardening, the beauty of roses, and the strong sense of community that makes this event so special.

At this time of year, the Riverland is at its most vibrant, with roses in bloom and gardens at their best. Beyond the gardens, the spectacular Murray River and its natural environment offer visitors a unique and memorable experience.

The 32nd year of the festival program features favourite events, including the Renmark Institute Floral Display, the Festival Fair and the Gala Dinner. The heart of the festival remains the Open Gardens program, however, this year, it also includes Streets in Bloom: a street-view showcase of selected front gardens – visitors can enjoy the trail on foot or by car, depending on their mobility and preferred pace.

With over 30 gardens open to explore, we hope you enjoy wandering through these beautiful spaces and connecting with the people who have lovingly created them. In between gardens, we encourage you to enjoy the food and wine events that are on offer and the local art experiences featured in the program.

There's nothing like experiencing the 'mighty Murray' on the water itself, and this year we are excited to offer boat events in Renmark, Berri and Loxton.

A year ago we were unsure if this event could go ahead, but thanks to the support and dedication of local volunteers, Friends of the Festival, and organisations we have been able to continue – so this festival, please don't forget to stop and smell the roses.

*Warm regards,
The Riverland Rose and Garden Festival Committee*

Take the scenic route at this year's Institute floral display

ONE OF THE RIVERLAND ROSE AND GARDEN FESTIVAL'S MOST BELOVED TRADITIONS WILL AGAIN DAZZLE LOCAL AND VISITING FLOWER LOVERS THIS YEAR.

This year's Festival Floral Display – held at the Renmark Institute – will follow the theme of 'Wheels in Motion', featuring an array of beautifully cut flowers arranged and melded with modes of transport.... or the parts that keep them moving!

The Institute display will also feature sections that pay homage to the important traditions that formed its foundations.

This is set to be a fun experience, that will also be a delight for the senses – imagine wandering through the hall filled with gorgeous roses and flowers, breathing in the heady scent of fresh cuts and enjoying the design and creativity of the floral arrangements presented – we can't wait for you to take this road trip!

The 2026 Floral Display offers visitors an immersive experience, and will showcase a beautifully curated floral narrative, woven by the talents of the festival's dedicated volunteers, and framed in a celebration of the community.

Festival organisers also extend their sincere thanks to Kevin and Roz from Lotsa Pots Renmark for their ongoing support, generously supplying artwork and materials that help bring the Institute display to life each year.

The Waikerie Flower Show Garden Party

THE WAIKERIE AND DISTRICTS COMMUNITY FLOWER SHOW IS A MUST SEE HIGHLIGHT OF THE RIVERLAND ROSE AND GARDEN FESTIVAL'S PROGRAM FOR 2026.

An annual event in the Waikerie Institute, this Flower Show has become a much-loved community event in the district's calendar, since its inception in 1980.

It is a competition of cut flowers, roses, orchids, Australian native plants, pot plants and floral art, which is judged by professionals who are experts in their craft.

This year's theme for the Flower Show is 'Garden Party', and there are specific categories in the sections to show your creativeness, imagination and ingenuity with entries relating to this theme.

Cash prizes are awarded to champion entries which are considered best in their various sections, and this year $1200 has been allocated across the show.

We are forever grateful to our chief judges, Alethia Quick and James Argent, along with other local and experienced judges who give of their time eagerly.

There is also a Junior Section for our younger community members to enter, with again, encouraging cash prizes available to be won. Over the years we have fostered our young people in the community to be active participants in our Flower Show, and their response has been truly magnificent.

Additionally, as part of the Flower Show this year, we are encouraging our local businesses to decorate a corner of their shop or a window with their interpretation of "Garden Party" to compliment the other floral decorations in the main streets. A

Last year's theme, Immersed in Your Garden, was created by committee member Luisa Falcinella, and enjoyed by committee member Carole Walker. PHOTOS: supplied generous $150 voucher from the Waikerie Hotel and a significant trophy will be awarded to the business considered the best.

So, if you love flowers, pottering in the garden, or just enjoying the ambience and peacefulness of the natural world, visit the Waikerie Flower Show on Friday and Saturday, October 16 and 17, where you can savour the perfume and floral delights on display.

The 'Garden Party' theme for 2026 will no doubt be another incredible presentation to add style and flair for the enjoyment of all our visitors.

The Waikerie Flower Show is extremely well supported by our local business community with significant sponsorship of which we are exceedingly grateful. The Loxton Waikerie council continues to support this event with a generous grant and use of the Waikerie Institute. Of course, this Flower Show would not exist if it wasn't for the dedicated committee, other willing volunteers, and the fabulous and amazing gardeners in the community who front up year after year with their incredible entries into our competition.

Friday, October 16, from 10am to 5pm
Saturday, October 17, from 10am to 2pm

Meraki Garden

NEIL AND AMY DROGEMULLER

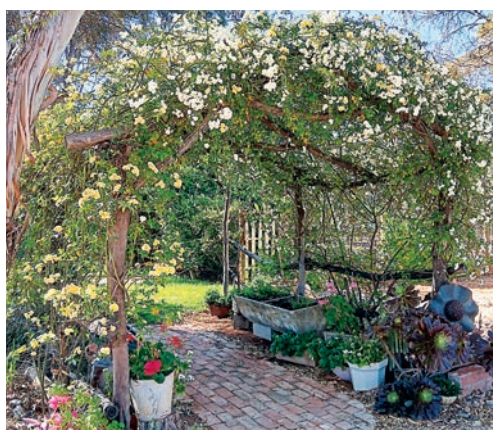

Meraki Gardens began in 2017 on a 2.5-acre block of weeds and a few native trees. Over nine years, we've shaped it with meraki—soul, love, and creativity—into a place that has supported our family to grow, grieve, heal, play, and wander. For the first time, we're opening the garden and invite you to wander its paths, discovering rustic art, native plantings, birdsong, and hidden details along the way. Please note: No dogs permitted.

Sparnon Garden

MICK AND ANDREA SPARNON

We bought this house nearly four years ago, and the garden was quite bare apart from olive trees, and pomegranates. Obviously a once-loved garden, we gutted the entire space apart from the large trees and began to redevelop a broad sprawling garden. It is a work in progress, and the garden is in different stages of growth. Our hedges play a large role in the garden and beautiful lawned areas.

Sometimes the greatest joy is found in slowing down, taking a different street, and appreciating the care and creativity that surrounds us.

Rooted in history

WHILE THE RIVERLAND FEATURES A SIGNIFICANT VARIETY OF DISTINCT AND INTERESTING TREE TYPES, THE REGION IS ALSO HOME TO A RIVER RED GUM THAT IS A LIVING ARCHIVE OF THE HISTORY OF THE MURRAY RIVER.

Loxton's Tree of Knowledge – located at Grant Schubert Drive – is a testament to time and of the region's high river levels and flood history.

Recording the height of floods in the region for decades, the River Red Gum is worth a trip to the Loxton riverfront for any local or visitors alike interested in the region's flood history, with the ancient tree decorated with markers, including the devastating 1956 flood.

For more information and the full list of trees, visit the National Trust's register of significant trees.

TREES OF SIGNIFICANCE

Featuring 40 trees – each 130 years old – these are the remaining grove of olive trees planted by Charles Chaffey, and from which Olivewood – the native pine house he built – got its name.

Corner of Renmark Avenue and Twentyfirst Street

Cotton Palm

At 136 years old, these are an avenue of palms planted by Charles Chaffey at Olivewood.

The 'Katarapko' Giants

Located within the Murray River National Park (Katarapko section, near Berri), you can find clusters of enormous, ancient River Red Gums which have root systems and massive trunks right along the creek edges.

Lower Winkie Road, between Berri and Glossop (off the Old Sturt Highway)

Pepper Tree

At 146 years old, this tree was planted at a boundary of Rider's Hut, and is part of Bookpurnong Station. The hut was occupied by William Charles Loxton after whom the town was named in 1907.

Apex Park, Loxton

Date Palms

Standing at 136 years old, these are four surviving Deglet Nour date palms. They are the last remaining trees out of 50 gifted by the French Government in the 1890s, which was a nineteenth-century initiative by the SA government to establish fruit-growing in rural South Australia.

Renmark Paringa Community Museum growing a fruitful future

A TEAM OF RIVERLAND VOLUNTEERS IS WORKING TO ENSURE THE HISTORY AND LEGACY OF THE RENMARK PARINGA DISTRICT REMAINS FOR MANY YEARS TO COME.

The group is now preparing to showcase its newest agricultural venture to locals and visitors alike.

Volunteers of the Renmark Paringa Community Museum – located at Lot 15, Sturt Highway, Paringa – have been developing an agricultural exhibit for the past three years, with a 'Fruit Salad Block' showcasing the variety of produce grown in the region.

"We had a lot of visitors, who having just driven back from the Woolshed (Brewery), asked us about the Almond trees in the district – they were surprised we grew almonds in the Riverland," Renmark Paringa Community Museum chairman

Wayne Howell said.

"That just got us thinking as volunteers that we should really try to capture the agricultural history of the Riverland because the diversity of what we grow did not seem to be well known – the most people were aware of is grapes and oranges."

Reaching out to local growers, Renmark Paringa Community Museum were successful in acquiring, and now steadily growing a variety of plants, ranging from figs, apples, peaches, pears, nectarines, lemons, oranges, almonds, and pistachios.

"We would really love to also get some seeds for pecan nuts, as well as persimmons, granny smith apples, and date palms," Mr Howell said.

"However, it's coming along really well and we're definitely really proud of it."

Alongside maintaining a garden bed – that features a range of plants and veggies able to be grown in Riverland – Mr Howell said the next step for the 'Fruit Salad Block' was to show it off to the public, with the museum set to be opening for this year's Riverland Rose & Garden Festival.

"It's super exciting and will be something different that will be showcased in the festival," he said.

"We have received so much positive feedback from the community already.

"We just want to be able to show people what the Riverland is all about – it's important to expand the perception beyond just grape growing."

Rose week favourites return

THE UPCOMING RIVERLAND ROSE AND GARDEN FESTIVAL IS SET TO FEATURE 32 LOCAL GARDENS FOR 2026, WITH THIS YEAR'S LINE-UP ONCE AGAIN INCLUDING TWO NEIGHBOURING BROTHERS AND A COUPLE WHOSE COURTYARD GARDEN IS A TRIBUTE TO A FAMILY HISTORY.

Riverlanders, rosarians, and visitors will be able to 'stop and smell the roses' of a variety of gardens this year, with a strong show of local yards ready to bloom for one of the region's most iconic festivals.

Rodney and Trevor Andary – whose Glossop properties are located across from each other – are again part of this year's festival, with the brothers offering a two-in-one experience for those making the trip into the district.

"We're both really excited to open our gardens to the community," Trevor told The Murray Pioneer.

"It's lovely getting feedback, and have people appreciate what you're doing, because looking after a garden can be a lot of work.

"It's also great because we get to raise (funds) for the Royal Flying Doctor Service.

"Rose Week just always makes us feel great and inspired to keep working on our gardens."

Though close in proximity – located on 118 and 127 Battams Road – the brothers will have two completely different gardens on show, with Trevor's featuring roses, natives, and a range of hand-made creations and artwork, and Rodney's following a more tropical theme, and featuring a collection of birds.

"I started (a large section) of my garden in 2016, and now I have expanded pretty much as far as I can — however, I always say that, but then I begin developing something new," Trevor said.

"I call my garden a quirky garden, because it features a lot of things that you wouldn't find anywhere else.

"There is no point having the same garden as everyone else."

Featuring a lot of succulents and palm trees, Rodney said his garden has taken "over 30 years of growing, tending, and work".

"I really loved the idea of a tropical garden, it's something that is different and really takes care of itself," he said.

Though it will be Trevor's fourth year opening his garden during Rose Week, and Rodney's third, both have been expanding their backyard showcase over the past year, promising to have "something new" for both new and returning visitors to explore and gain inspiration from.

"We love visiting other gardens because it is a great source of inspiration — everyone thinks differently and it can provide great ideas," Trevor said.

"So, we hope those visiting our garden will feel the same — we have plenty for everyone to see."

As one of the nine Loxton open gardens registered, Colleen and Fred Packer are opening their garden, Tranquility, for a third year to the local community after a "beautiful experience" in festivals past.

"Though you can sometimes feel as though your garden is not good enough, we have received some lovely feedback from the local community and it encouraged us to give it a go," Ms Packer said.

Visitors and locals alike will be able to stroll around both the front and back of the Packer's gardens, and enjoy their tribute to the history of the demolished out-buildings and plantings, plus the creative use of recycled materials, of which include items that reflect their family's history.

"The experience last year was just wonderful. It was such a pleasure to have people come through the garden and see how much joy it brought them — it made all the long-hours (tending to the garden) worth it," Ms Packer said.

"So, we're looking forward to this year's festival very much."
